The funds underperformed, as investment in hedge funds has dropped to near-five-year lows. The flagship fund, led by billionaire investor Ray Dalio, declined 12.5 percent in the first quarter, and the multi-strategy fund plummeted by about 25 percent. A lot of these downturns happen in January. The strategy continues to be tough to pinpoint, but the top-down view is that the market will move higher. The S&P 500 now trades at 16.5 times a forward earnings estimate, compared to 17.6 times the first week of January. Meanwhile, the stock market is also more expensive compared to the start of the financial crisis in late 2008 and early 2009. The S&P 500 peaked on March 10, 2009 at 1476.87. The S&P 500 is trading at just over 2,900 now. "It's not like
